

At the table

Za stolom · За столом

Offer, accept, decline, and ask for food or drink.

1 / 13

Conversation review

Greet me, ask how I am, introduce one person, and say one true family fact.

2 / 13

Listen first

Baka: Amaya, hoćeš li pitu?

Amaya: Da, molim. Hvala!

Baka: A Marko, hoćeš li još?

Marko: Ne, hvala. Sit sam.

Amaya: Voda, molim.

Who accepts? Who declines? What does Amaya ask for?

3 / 13

Four useful moves

Hoćeš li ...? — informal

Hoćete li ...? — polite or plural

Da, molim. — Yes, please.

Ne, hvala. — No, thank you.

4 / 13

6 / 13

A true reaction

Volim pitu.
Ne volim kafu.

Ukusno je.
Sita sam. / Sit sam.

7 / 13

Š and Ž

š: šta, još

ž: žena, kaže

Keep the vowel in još short and steady.

8 / 13

Cyrillic bridge

Ш = Š · Ж = Ž · З = Z · Г = G · Ф = F

још · жена · сир · вода · хлеб

Read for sound first; meaning is already known.

Sunday lunch

Amaya i Marko su kod bake i deke. Na stolu su pita, salata, sir i hleb. Baka pita: „Amaya, hoćeš li još pite?” Amaya kaže: „Da, molim. Pita je veoma ukusna!”

10 / 13

Talk about it

- Where are Amaya and Marko?
- What is on the table?
- What does Amaya accept?
- What would be at your ideal Serbian meal?

11 / 13

Dinner-table role-play

1. Marko offers food.
2. An older relative offers food.
3. Ask for something across the table.

Use a true preference at least once.

12 / 13

Exit conversation

Without notes: offer one item, accept or decline, ask for a drink, and react to the food.
